the european union eu faces many crises and risks to its security and existence while few of them threaten the lives of eu citizens they all create a sense of anxiety and insecurity about the future for many ordinary europeans this comprehensive volume explores the concept of ontological security which was introduced into international relations over a decade ago to better understand the security of being found in feelings of fear anxiety crisis and threat to wellbeing the authors make use of this concept to explore how narratives of european integration have been part of public discourses in the post war period and how reconciliation dynamics national biographical narratives and memory politics have been enacted to create ontological security within this context they also discuss the anxiety of the remainers in the brexit referendum and the consequences of its failure to address the ontological anxieties and insecurities of remain voters the book also explores how european security firms market ontological security and provide an ontological security inspired reading of the eu s relations with post communist states the eu and nato s engagement with hybrid threats and the eu as an anxious community this book was originally published as a special issue of the journal european security in 1996 world leaders pledged to reduce the number of hungry people to 400 million by 2015 this report provides the estimates in 1999 of the number of chronically hungry people in the developing world and introduces the first comparable estimates ever made of the number of people who go hungry in the industrialized countries and countries in transition provides data on progress and reversals during the 1990s and highlights countries that have achieved the greatest gains or suffered the most severe setbacks over the past 2 decades analyzes some of the underlying factors that contributed to gains and setbacks in these countries and examines the impact of short term shocks such as war natural disaster or financial crisis illustrations six years from 2030 hunger and food insecurity trends are not yet moving in the right direction to end hunger and food insecurity sdg target 2 1 by 2030 the indicators of progress towards global nutrition targets similarly show that the world is not on track to eliminate all forms of malnutrition sdg target 2 2 billions of people still lack access to nutritious safe and sufficient food nevertheless progress in many countries provides hope of the possibility of getting back on track towards hunger and malnutrition eradication implementing the policies investments and legislation needed to revert the current trends of hunger food insecurity and malnutrition requires proper financing for food security and nutrition despite a broad agreement on the urgent need to increase financing for food security and nutrition the same cannot be said for a common understanding regarding how this financing should be defined and tracked the report provides a long awaited definition of financing for food security and nutrition and guidance for its implementation there are recommendations regarding the efficient use of innovative financing tools and reforms to the food security and nutrition financing architecture establishing a common definition of financing for food security and nutrition and methods for its tracking measurement and implementation is an important first step towards sustainably increasing the financing flows needed to end hunger food insecurity and all forms of malnutrition and to ensure access to healthy diets for all today and tomorrow in recent years several major drivers have put the world off track to ending world hunger and malnutrition in all its forms by 2030 the challenges have grown with the covid 19 pandemic and related containment measures this report presents the first global assessment of food insecurity and malnutrition for 2020 and offers some indication of what hunger might look like by 2030 in a scenario further complicated by the enduring effects of the covid 19 pandemic it also includes new estimates of the cost and affordability of healthy diets which provide an important link between the food security and nutrition indicators and the analysis of their trends altogether the report highlights the need for a deeper reflection on how to better address the global food security and nutrition situation to understand how hunger and malnutrition have reached these critical levels this report draws on the analyses of the past four editions which have produced a vast evidence based body of knowledge of the major drivers behind the recent changes in food security and nutrition these drivers which are increasing in frequency and intensity include conflicts climate variability and extremes and economic slowdowns and downturns all exacerbated by the underlying causes of poverty and very high and persistent levels of inequality in addition millions of people around the world suffer from food insecurity and different forms of malnutrition because they cannot afford the cost of healthy diets from a synthesized understanding of this knowledge updates and additional analyses are generated to create a holistic view of the combined effects of these drivers both on each other and on food systems and how they negatively affect food security and nutrition around the world in turn the evidence informs an in depth look at how to move from silo solutions to integrated food systems solutions in this regard the report proposes transformative pathways that specifically address the challenges posed by the major drivers also highlighting the types of policy and investment portfolios required to transform food systems for food security improved nutrition and affordable healthy diets for all the report observes that while the pandemic has caused major setbacks there is much to be learned from the vulnerabilities and inequalities it has laid bare if taken to heart these new insights and wisdom can help get the world back on track towards the goal of ending hunger food insecurity and malnutrition in all its forms
